Traveled, and A World Waiting to be Born

Community is a group of two or more people who have accepted and transcended their differences, enabling them to communicate openly and work together efficiently toward their common good. Achievement of community is difficult, intentional and rewarding. FCE has developed a set of techniques to assist individuals and groups to experience community.

Through increased personal responsibility, a group gradually becomes a “safe place,” in which personal growth, self-discovery and shared leadership can flourish.

A true community can be a remarkably effective decision-making body, reinvigorating businesses, agencies, churches and other organizations where teamwork is essential.

“There are rules by which people can come back together...It is the mission of FCE to teach these rules, to make hope real again, to make the vision actually manifest in a world which has almost forgotten the glory of what it means to be human.”

—from FCE’s Founding Dream

The Foundation for Community Encouragement

The Foundation for Community Encouragement, Inc. (FCE) was founded in December 1984 in response to a need for community. This need was perceived by one of the founding members, Dr. M. Scott Peck, author of The Road Less Traveled, The Different Drum, and A World Waiting to Be Born. Lecturing throughout the country, Dr. Peck found vast numbers of people and organizations expressing a longing for, and a lack of community in their lives.

FCE has sought to address this deep yearning for authentic human connection. The Community Building Workshop

- Facilitates an experiential process of building genuine community, a safe place for authentic communication, risk-taking, openness and shared leadership
- Provides a forum in which participants join together to overcome cultural, political and religious differences that prevent us from embracing our human diversity.
- Builds skills necessary for effective communication and creating consensual decisions.

What people are saying about the Community Building Experience...

"Is it really possible that I experienced profound learning about myself, the people I work with, my business, my society, my world, my universe and my spirit in just three days? Yes it is." N. H., New York, NY

"Community Building is becoming a way of life at our company, and it all began with my experience at FCE... We've put 350 of our 600 employees through a community building experience and it has helped our business immensely." (Company President in Florida)

"If you are ready to embark on a journey that is radically transformative, this experiential workshop will give you the tools you need to create real meaning in your life, and real connection with you friends and loved ones." S. McC., Chicago, IL

Consideration for Participation in a Community Building Workshop

Participants should have a genuine desire to learn about themselves, about interpersonal relationships and about group behavior. There may be stressful situations in the workshop and you are responsible for self-screening if stressful situations are a concern. Please discuss attendance with your therapist if currently in therapy.
